The Financial Intermediation Network of European Studies (FINEST) acts as a platform for research and discussion among banking and financial intermediation researchers and practitioners throughout Europe. FINEST functions as an open research network, encouraging collaboration and knowledge sharing among academics from various European universities, policymakers, and financial sector professionals. The FINEST is a private, nonprofit network of researchers from various universities, central banks, financial authorities, other research institutes, and practitioners interested in all aspects of banking and finance.

Hosted by Roma Tre University in Italy, the FINEST network is open to anyone interested in collaborating on its activities. Researchers, central banks, financial authorities, research institutes, and practitioners can request membership to explore the various aspects of banking and finance.

Activities

1. Working papers. The working paper series facilitates sharing research efforts among all interested researchers working on banking and financial intermediation issues. At the same time, working papers are likely to be highly regarded in the academic community. These papers will be reviewed through a double-blind review process system.
2. Research projects. FINEST promotes research groups, surveys, and observatories on specific complex areas of banking and financial intermediation in Europe with the aim to originally contributing to international research on these issues.
3. Conferences. FINEST organizes periodical conferences on specific banking and financial intermediation issues.
4. Workshops. FINEST promotes workshops to present high-quality papers, providing authors with a deep and open discussion before the paper submission to top academic journals.
5. Summer schools. FINEST organizes short summer courses on issues related to banking and financial intermediation in Europe for undergraduate and postgraduate students in accounting, economics, finance, and management.

Notes on the invited discussants, chairs, and speakers

Paola Brighi is a Professor of Finance at the University of Milan, Italy. Her research primarily focuses on banking, corporate finance, ESG (Environmental, Social, Governance) integration, and credit risk assessment, with a particular interest in how financial institutions adapt to systemic challenges such as climate change, regulatory reform, and inequality. She is a frequent contributor to edited volumes and international collaborations, and she has received several national and international grants for her research.

François Derrien is Professor of Finance at HEC Paris. His research focuses on corporate finance, specifically examining how the environment of firms influences their financing and investment decisions, ultimately affecting their performance and value. He studied the impact of security analysts on corporate policies, as well as the effect of investors' horizons on firms' decisions. More recently, his work has focused on understanding how local labor markets affect firms. He is also interested in ESG regulations and ratings and their impact on firm valuation and firm policies. His work has appeared in finance journals like the Journal of Finance, the Review of Financial Studies, and the Journal of Financial Economics.

Alberta Di Giuli is Dean of ESCP Turin Campus and Professor of Finance at ESCP Business School. She was previously based at ESCP Paris Campus from 2011 to 2023. Prof Di Giuli has held several prominent positions within the ESCP Business School, including Head of the Finance Department from 2020 to 2022. She is a Research Member at the ECGI (European Corporate Governance Institute). Her research focuses on ESG, Climate Finance, Corporate Governance, Media Coverage, and Political Connections. Professor Di Giuli received her MSc cum laude in Business Administration, majoring in Finance, and her PhD from Bocconi University. She has presented her research at numerous major academic and practitioner conferences. Her work has been published in journals such as the Journal of Financial Economics and the Journal of Financial Intermediation.

Carlo Fiorio is Professor of Public Economics and Head of the Department of Economics, Management, and Quantitative Methods (DEMM) at the University of Milan. He is also a Senior Research Fellow at the Research Institute for the Evaluation of Public Policies (IRVAPP-FBK) and Research Fellow at Dondena, Bocconi. His research interests include public economics, applied econometrics, inequality analysis, labour economics. He widely published in economic journals such as Health Economics, Labour Economics, Oxford Bulletin of Economics and Statistics among others.

María José Arteaga Garavito is a Ph.D. candidate in Finance at Bocconi University (expected 2025), specializing in financial intermediation, regulation, and climate finance. Before her doctoral studies, she worked as a financial stability researcher at the Bank of Mexico (2016–2020). In 2023, she served as a Senior Associate at the Bank for International Settlements (BIS), and in Spring 2024, she was a visiting scholar at Columbia Business School. Her recent work includes publications such as "When Markets Get COVID: Contagion, Virus, and Information Diffusion" in the Journal of Financial Economics, and the paper "International Climate News," which explores how climate-related media coverage influences capital flows and currency values

Claudia Girardone is Dean of Essex Business School and Professor of Banking and Finance. She is also Academic Fellow at the Centre for Responsible Banking and Finance (University of St Andrews) and a member of the Scientific Committee of EMANES. She has held visiting scholar roles at the Bank of England and the International Monetary Fund. Her research focuses on banks' financial and social performance, corporate governance, stability, and access to finance. She has published widely in top international journals and is co-author of Introduction to Banking (Pearson FT, 2021, 3rd ed.). She also serves as Associate Editor for several journals, including the International Journal of Finance and Economics and The European Journal of Finance. Professor Girardone is a Trustee of the Money Macro Finance Society, where she chairs the Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Committee. She regularly organises international conferences, such as the annual Essex Finance Centre (EFiC) conference, and is frequently invited to contribute to academic and policy discussions in banking and finance.
